

16th May 2008

GROWTH IN WEALTH DESPITE ECONOMIC DOWNTURN LEADS TO EXPANSION AT TAYLOR PATTERSON

Wealthy individuals continue to look for investment opportunities despite the international credit crunch, according to top Preston financial advisers Taylor Patterson.

Glynn Bartley, director of Taylor Patterson's wealth management division, has reported no significant slowdown in the investments being made by clients.

He reports that by choosing investments wisely, it is still possible to prosper in the current economic climate.

To meet this demand, Taylor Patterson has hired Natasha Stefani who recently worked as a business support manager at Questa Financial Services, Blackpool, as a new administrator in the wealth management team.

Natasha, of Lytham, is an experienced administrator and is currently working towards gaining her Certificate in Financial Planning.

Glynn Bartley said: "Despite the problems with the economy, it is a good time to consider investing for the long-term benefits and Taylor Patterson is delighted to be expanding its wealth management team at this time.

"Natasha will be a key member of the division."